

Project plan

Background

Last spring we were in Naples during a week to work with an environmental project. This year we're going to do a terminal project and felt that it would be interesting to do something related to Italy again.

Earlier this year we saw in the media that Naples was suffering from a garbage crisis. We got chocked over the news because we had seen another environment while we were there. What had happened? We wanted to examine it. Therefore we have chosen to call our terminal project: Naples – an environmentally conscious city? We will compare the environmental work in two municipalities, Portici and Haninge.

We are interested in this topic since milieu is in big interest right now and comes in close for us natural science students.

Questions

What knowledge do young people have regarding waste handling?

In what ways has the environmental crisis affected Naples? (tourism, export, reputation, nature)

What measures have been taken and what will happen now?

Purpose

The main purpose of the project is to study Naples situation and environmental crisis.

We will also:

- Compare garbage handling in the area of Naples versus Haninge.
- Look at the awareness of waste handling and recycling (in both Sweden and Italy) when it comes to youths.

We want to learn about environmental work, garbage handling and awareness of the milieu in a foreign country.

Delimitations

We will focus on Naples' environmental status and will hence not work as much with Sweden, Haninge or the rest of Italy.

Method

To find out about the knowledge of young people we will make questionnaires. We will also try to contact Italian represents for the tourism, industry etc. To get a good view over the situation we will make field studies on the streets of Naples.

We will present the project on a website and during the visit in Naples we will write a blog which will contain text about our progress.

Time schedule

The project should be finished week 8, 2009.

Visit in Naples week 42 (11-18 October)

Practical details and preparations for the trip, finished week 39.

Form of presentation

A website where all the facts and our daily rapports will be presented.

An oral presentation for our class.
